The National Women’s History Alliance is proud to list our 2022 Partners who share our goal of recognizing the importance and historic achievements of multicultural American women. Each Partner, in their own way, is raising the visibility and celebrating the diversity of women’s efforts and is helping to build the Women’s History Alliance. The NWHA has served as the hub for women’s history for 40 years and is now expanding our role in the 21st century as an active national center for women’s history groups and resources.

Our goal is to connect the many individuals, projects, educational institutions and professionals interested in promoting women’s history with each other. The number of grassroots organizations that recognized the Suffrage Centennial is dazzling and many are continuing. We all agree that we want to secure the progress we’ve made this past year and ensure that women are never again overlooked in American history.

To build a solid Women’s History Alliance and learn from the work of others, we encourage you to visit the websites of our 2022 Partners. Every one offers unique links to information and resources. Visit them on social media and join their mailing lists so you can keep up with what’s being accomplished. Each 2022 Partner has a direct link on our website.
