SPECIAL NOTE: <https://www.monumentalwomen.org>

Monumental Women was created as an all-volunteer, not-for-profit organization in 2014 with the initial goal of breaking the bronze ceiling and creating the first statue of real women in Central Park's 167-year history. Our Women's Rights Pioneers Monument of Sojourner

Truth, Susan B. Anthony, and Elizabeth Cady Stanton was unveiled on August 26, 2020, the centennial anniversary of the ratification and certification of the 19th “Votes For Women” amendment to the constitution. Monumental Women has the further goals of increasing awareness and appreciation of Women’s History through a nationwide education campaign and challenging municipalities across the country and across the world to rethink the past and reshape the future by including tributes in their public spaces to the diverse women who helped create and inspire those cities. Our ongoing projects include a NYC virtual Women’s Rights History Trail, “Put Her on a Pedestal,” a history/art project for children, our Toolkit for Change roadmap for groups looking to honor more women in public spaces, supporting public art honoring women throughout the world, and much more. NATIONAL WOMEN’S HISTORY ALLIANCE www.nwhp.org

From Our new interim Executive Director, Jill Zinckgraf: executivedirector@nationalwomenshistoryalliance.org

Jill Zinckgraf: I am deeply honored to stand before you today as the Interim Executive Director of NWHHA, and I am thrilled to be part of this remarkable webinar, "Moving Women's History Forward: Sharing Experiences and Tactics." We have a few minutes before we conclude today's program, so we want to extend a few heartfelt thanks. First, a big thank you to our insightful panelists for sharing their expertise and experiences with us today. Your contributions have made this discussion truly enlightening.

We'd also like to express our gratitude to the dedicated individuals who worked tirelessly behind the scenes to make this production possible. Your hard work and commitment have been instrumental in ensuring a smooth and successful event. Thank you once again for being here with us today, and let's all continue to inspire and celebrate the incredible achievements of women in history – both past and present. Don't forget to explore our Women's History materials and products on NationalWomensHistoryAlliance.org

Extra submission from one of the attendees. New book:

Kimberly Hess is the author of A Lesser Mortal: The Unexpected Life of Sarah B. Cochran. This is the first biography of Cochran, who was unique as a female business competitor of Henry Clay Frick's, but was also a suffragist, builder of National Register structures, college trustee, donor of college dormitories, and fraternity house namesake. Trust for Historic Preservation, the National Women's History Museum, the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, and others. The monumental Tiffany window from Cochran's home will be installed at the Metropolitan Museum of Art later this year.

Kimberly -- is a former trustee of the Alice Paul Institute and has held volunteer leadership positions for nonprofits at the global and local levels. She can be contacted at smithie96@aol.com

Presenters' short bios: January 27, 2024

Penny Colman, author of numerous books about historic women, including Rosie the Riveter: Women Working on the Home Front in World War II, has promoted women's history in diverse venues by giving countless speeches and posting blogs that are illustrated with her photographs of landmarks to women that she has visited for over 30 years.

Lisa Sales is an advocate and policy leader on gender equality, domestic and sexual violence, and public safety. She was a leader in the successful VAratifyERA campaign in 2020. She now works ardently to ensure the ERA becomes part of the Constitution.

Gwendolyn Quezaire-Presutti's portrayals of historical women draw on primary historical sources. For the past 20 years she has engaged audiences, giving voice to real life struggles, and triumphs.

Prasidha Padmanabhan is the Co -founder of WEAR (Women for Education, Advocacy & Rights), a student group advocating for inclusion of Women's History in Virginia school's curriculum.

Katherine Kitterman is the Historical and Executive Director for Better Days 2020. She has extensive research experience in American women's history and Mormon history. She is the Women's History Initiative Coordinator at Utah Historical Society.

Charlotte Mangin, winner of the 2020 Women Transforming Media Award, is a documentary filmmaker with over 20 years of multimedia, fundraising and nonprofit experience, triumphing in PBS's UNLADYLIKE SERIES.
